Madrid, 19 December 2017. DIA has reached an all-time high by delivering more than 3.8 million kilos to the Spanish Food Bank. This figure represents an increase of 6.1% compared to 2016, establishing a new milestone for the company in Spain, as last year this figure stood at 3.59 million. The figure includes deliveries from the company's warehouses (over 860,000 kilos), the Great Food Collection (2.8 million kilos) and the kilo-specific operations carried out throughout the year (145,500 kilos).

These acts of solidarity have been possible thanks to the support of the customers and the company's employees, the DIA franchises, and the different collaborators that DIA Group works with on a regular basis, as well as its suppliers of products and logistics services.

Volume of kilogrammes delivered to the Spanish Food Bank and its interannual variation

* The Great Collection did not exist in 2012

In the last five years, DIA Group has managed a seven-fold increase in the amount collected. In 2012 this figure stood at around 510,000 kilos, a figure that doubled in 2013 (1.1 million), mainly driven by the Great Food Collection, which celebrated its first edition. The figures posted stable growth in the following two years, 2014 and 2015, with volumes of 2.1 and 3.4 million, respectively. It is worth noting that the accumulated volume delivered to the Spanish Food Bank from 2012 to 2017 exceeds 14.5 million kilos.

With the participation of around 2,000 DIA Group stores

Regarding the analysis at the regional level, the first thing that stands out is the high volume of establishments that have participated in the delivery of food this year. 1,984 company stores in 16 different autonomous communities have collaborated to reach this year's record figure of 3.8 million kilos.
